

Labor Indorses Bond Issue For School Improvements; Strong Resolutions Passed

$151,500 IS VOTED TO FINISH WORK FOR UNEMPLOYED

Council and Aldermanic Board Approve Resolutions to Use Part of Money Left Over From Bond Issue

$142,000 TO BE SPENT ON SEWERS OF ATLANTA

Effort of Alderman Maddox to Allow Part of Work to Be Given to Contractors Meets With Defeat.

Council Thursday afternoon adopted resolutions releasing $142,000 from the sewer bond balance, $150,000 from the water department fund and $6,000 from the general tax fund of 1914, for immediate use on public works. The amount is estimated, will give work to about 700 unemployed men within the next ten days.

The three resolutions adopted by council represent a grand total of $151,500, of which all except $6,000 is now in the city treasury and available for immediate use.

Following the action of council, the aldermanic board met and approved the resolutions.

Amendment Is Defeated.
An effort was made in council and in the aldermanic board to amend the resolution concerning the sewer work so as to allow part of the work to be given to contractors, but Councilman Claude L. Ashley, who is a member of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, and Councilman J. L. McCord, who started the movement in council to provide work for the unemployed, protested on the ground that to amend the resolution as suggested would defeat the aim of the measure and would probably have the effect of keeping unemployed men whom the council is seeking to reach.

Councilman Mason withdrew his amendment after explaining that the reason it became necessary to think the city had the tools or machinery to do the work it has been planned to give them.

Capital R. M. Clayton, of the construction department, informed council that the county commissioners had agreed to loan tools and machinery to the city, and he also made the declaration that to allow any part to be given to contractors would be a blow to the city and deprive many men of the work it has been planned to give them.

Maddox Resolution Rejected.
Alderman Maddox offered a similar amendment tacked on the resolution when the matter was brought before the aldermanic board, but when his amendment was defeated he gave notice that he would bring the question of the action of the board at the next meeting.

Friends of the alderman prevailed upon him to withdraw his amendment and the resolution to pass, and when he gave his consent the papers were approved.

Bright and early Friday morning Mayor Woodward will have the resolution in his possession. He has indicated that he will approve the resolution which contemplates the spending of $151,500 on sewers and $150,000 on the improvement of the water system.

The resolution authorizing the use of the money from the sewer bond issue is in the nature of anti-unemployment legislation. The mayor is opposed to anticipating the money one year, to another, and it is not known what action he will take. He expressed displeasure Thursday afternoon when he was informed that the resolution was passed by council, but refused to make any comment or to indicate what action he will take.

Councilman W. G. Humphrey, chairman of the finance committee, and his disapproval of the late-named resolution on the floor of council, for a resolution that the city will be short $125,000 when the bond issue is paid, declared that unless the money is raised, council will have to raise the money by the tax money for 1914.

It is understood that before the end of the year the mayor's committee on the city's financial condition, and members of the tax commission, will be asked to report on the city's financial condition and to suggest ways in which the money can be raised to replace the money anticipated by council.

Some Buildings Should Be Repaired, and New Buildings Should Be Erected, Declares Atlanta Federation of Trades.

WILL GIVE EMPLOYMENT TO MANY IN NEED WORK

Interest in Campaign for Bonds Now Centers in the Meeting of Council Committee, Which Will Be Held Next Monday.

Labor Favors Bond Issue.

Whereas—The public school facilities, as reported by The Atlanta Constitution, which are wholly inadequate for the accommodation of the rapid growth of the city, bringing us face to face with a condition that will, at the beginning of the next school term, deny admission of hundreds of our children to the high schools, and

Whereas—The city council has recognized the inadequacy of our public school facilities and appointed a committee for the purpose of preparing a schedule of improvements, and

Whereas—The campaign inaugurated by The Atlanta Constitution and pushed so vigorously has brought to the attention of the public the danger they are about to encounter, we feel that we should proclaim our hearty commendation to the esteemed editor for the splendid service rendered to our community, especially the working class, and that we take this means of expressing our approval, and

Whereas—If this state of school affairs is allowed to continue the working man's child—our children—will be the principal sufferers, and hundreds denied the education guaranteed them, by willful and wanton neglect, and

Whereas—To relieve the situation some of the schools should be repaired and new buildings built, which would, while remedying the cramped school condition, give employment to many of the thousands now out of employment, and

Whereas—The only apparent, feasible plan for the successful culmination of this project is a bond issue; and we believe the question so urgent and important that we pledge ourselves, provided ways and means are immediately formulated for the beginning of this work, to support a bond issue for this purpose with our best efforts and influence. Therefore, be it

Resolved—That the Atlanta Federation of Trades go on record as favoring a bond issue as prescribed in above resolution.

LOUIS P. MARQUARDT,
JEROME JONES.

Recognizing the necessity of a bond issue for school improvements and new buildings—whether it be $150,000 or $142,000—just so long as the school system is benefited and the menace of overcrowding is removed, the Atlanta Federation of Trades has adopted strong resolutions approving the issuance of municipal bonds.

CHIEF OF POLICE KEEPS BURGLARS FROM CITY

Home of Alderman-Elect Edgar Dunlap Entered by Burglars—Frank Merriam Roasts Atlanta Officers.

As the clock struck the hour of midnight Wednesday night, and the turnkey at police barracks turned the key of the calendar, signifying that a new day had dawned, the call officers' tale began to hum every few minutes until daylight, each telling of a burglary that was being committed in some residence in different parts of the city.

The first call was the home of N. A. Moore, 127 Richardson street, where a burglar had robbed the house of two solid gold rings and a pair of gold cuff buttons, belonging to Mrs. Moore, valued at $125.

The second call was the home of Mr. Dunlap, 1214 N. W. 10th street, where a burglar had entered the house and taken the wrong trousers, leaving Mr. Dunlap's trousers in the house.

Frank J. Merriam, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, said that the Atlanta police department was doing a good job of keeping the city safe, but that the city was in need of more police officers.

Miss Horine Is Introduced At Beautiful Entertainment

The Piedmont Driving club was the scene yesterday of the afternoon reception given by Mrs. E. M. Horine and Mrs. Lee Worsham at the club house. The occasion was the introduction of Miss Horine, a lovely debutante, to the club members and their families. The reception was most successful, and the guests were most enjoyable.

The afternoon reception was held in the ballroom, and its decoration was an artistic and beautiful expression in the stately flowers and foliage and symbolism of the holiday season.

The array of Spanish moss hung from the balcony, and festooned between the pillars threw into relief the crimson of poinsettias, which were like red stars against the green.

The buffet tables at each side of the room were decorated with red and pink roses and garlands of smilax, and they were embowered in the Christmas holly and pine and bamboo. The punch bowls were hung with grapes and set in the midst of smilax.

The loggia was a picturesque avenue to the ballroom, its trellised ceiling hung with smilax and Florida moss, white palm lined the walls, and in the evening supper was served at 11 o'clock in the dining room, which was gay with the holiday red and white. A Christmas tree, decorated with a miniature Christmas tree, was placed in the center of the room, and the guests were most enjoyable.

The guests were received in the ballroom, the pretty debutante a flower-like beauty even in the midst of flowers, her debutante dress of white tulle and lace, and she wore a fair and glowing complexion.

She wore an exquisite white gown of chiffon, brodered in gold and silver and she wore a crown of roses and valley lilies. Mrs. Horine wore a Frodo gown, which was charming in white satin veiled with tulle and lace, and she wore a crown of roses and valley lilies.

Fort Valley School Board
Rents Books for Children

Editor Contribution: I noticed in The Courier-Journal a notice from the University of Chicago relative to the public schools of Atlanta, asking for books from their needs. From the experience we have had in the past, I thought it would be well to have the notice reprinted in your issue, inasmuch as we have a large number of books in our library which are available for the use of the schools. I am sure that the school system inaugurated.

For the last three years the board of education of the city of Chicago has been furnishing to the school here a large number of books. The board buys the books outright, keeping them in the city, and furnishing them to the schools in stock at all times. The books are furnished to the schools at a price which is one-half the price which they would cost if purchased. The balance is paid as rental for the use of the books.

The books at all times are to remain the property of the school, and are to be better care and better handling of books by the teachers, who are to be responsible to the board of education for the care of the books, which we require to inspect at stated intervals. The books are to be returned to the city, and are not to be sold, and the children are not to be allowed to take any of the books out of the school, or to use them for any purpose other than for the use of the school. If any damage occurs to the books, the school is to be responsible for the damages. We are very glad to inform you that in very few instances has this been the case.

There are a number of advantages to be derived from this plan:

First—it is a money-maker for the board.

Second—it is money-saver for the parent.

Third—it enables the school board to discontinue the purchase of books, and to adopt by the board if after beginning its work with the public schools, and to have what second-hand books there are at half price, and to have the books at half price to the pupil without any extra cost.

Fourth—it enables the school board to keep a large number of books, which is a small item for the child is careful in small items.

Fifth.—All books are thoroughly disinfected before a child is allowed to use them, after they have once been used, which would prevent the spread of any disease, to which they would be liable to a large extent where the children bought the second-hand books from the second-hand book dealers.

My system would be of great benefit to taxpayers and public schools. I mean the burden on the taxpayers, and when it was once tried would never be discarded. I trust the time will come in the public schools of Georgia when this same system can be inaugurated. Our teacher co-operate thoroughly with the students and are the very best friends of the state. I believe it would be worth mentioning while I am quite sure that taxpayers themselves be doing a service that would be lasting to its benefit not only to the parents themselves, but the taxpayers and country at large.

Knowing The Constitution's great interest in all educational matters I have taken the liberty of writing you. Very truly yours,

A. J. EVANS.

THE BLIND NEED WINDOWS.
(From The Christian Herald.)
Light has use, even if men cannot or will not see it. Baring-Gould tells of an institution in England that was built without windows. He asked the committee, "should we provide windows for those who cannot see out of them?" So scientific ventilation and heating were provided, but the walls were left unplastered by any pane of glass. But soon the poor inmates grew pale, and a great languor fell upon them. They fell sick, and one or two died. Then it was that the committee decided to open windows that the inmates might see the healing light, and the human plan was abandoned.

NAPOLEON'S TAX ON TOBACCO.
(From The London Chronicle.)

Napoleon tried to smoke once, and then, with dire results, instituted the French tobacco monopoly, which the German government now proposes to adopt, so far as cigarettes are concerned.

At a court reception held early in 1810 the emperor remarked a lady wearing jewels of such magnificence that he inquired how her husband made his money. "He is a tobacco merchant," was the reply, which led him to seek further information as to such a profitable business. Before the year expired Napoleon issued a decree restricting the sale and manufacture of tobacco exclusively to the state. It has remained a monopoly ever since, and for many years past has brought in an annual revenue of over $16,000,000.

OLD-FASHIONED MOTHERS.
(From The Glimmer Mirror.)

Thank God some of our old-fashioned mothers. Not a woman of the period, painted and enameled, with all her society manners and fine dresses white jeweled hands that never felt the clasp of baby fingers, but a dear, old-fashioned mother with a sweet voice, eyes into whose clear depth the love light shone, and brown hair that gleamed with silver, lying smooth upon her faded face. The hands that with-toll, gently guided our steps in childhood, and smoothed our cheeks in sickness, ever reaching out to us in yearning tenderness.

Blessed is the memory of an old-fashioned mother. It floats to us like the beautiful perfume of some wood blossoms. The music of other voices may be lost, but the enduring memory of her's will echo in our souls.

RAT STOPS AN ELEVATOR.

(Battle Creek (Mich.) dispatch to The Detroit Free Press.)

One rat, and a small one at that, not only put the elevator system of the seven-story Ward building out of commission, discommoding several hundred people, but it caused two men to risk the lives by jumping from a position between floors to the third floor. The men, Jack Strohm, in charge of the elevator, and John Steinel, member of the Athlestan club, expected the cage to drop when the mechanism stopped with a snap that sounded like a cable breaking. For several hours traffic in the building was tied up, then a janitor, Billy Woods, found that the rat, caught in the safety device in the basement, automatically locked the elevator.

Believed Jackets Will Ask Reinstatement Conditionally
—One-Year Rule Is Big Problem.

By Dick Jewell.
Will Georgia Tech return to the ranks of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association?
That is the question that is interesting Atlanta in advance of the annual meeting of the association, which will be held at the Georgia Hotel, Friday and Saturday, the Kentucky State university being hosts of the annual convention.

To those on the inside it is believed that Tech will be reinstated conditionally, on the understanding that Tech will be modified as to meet her demands.
It was the one-year rule and the alleged arbitrary disbarment of Tech that caused the withdrawal of Tech from the association.
